

Los Angeles Mission College Distance Education Technical Review Rubric of New Online Course Shell

I. COURSE OVERVIEW AND INTRODUCTION

Course Reviewed – Multimedia 110 – Jacalyn Lopez-Garcia – Fall 2015
Shell Reviewed on 4/10, 4/28, 5/5, 5/12, 5/19 and 5/26 – with changes incorporated
Recommended for Approval for Fall 2015 on 5/26/15

General Review Standard: The overall design of the course, navigational information, as well as course, instructor and student information are made transparent to the student at the beginning of the course.

Review Standards	Specifics	Comments
I.1 There is a statement introducing the student to the course.	Welcoming statement by the instructor that introduces students to the course. Examples: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • A course “tour”. • Clear directions about how to get started in the course. • The instructor’s name • Instructor’s field of expertise • Email address • Teaching philosophy • Past experiences with teaching online classes 	MM 110 has a complete welcome with course tour, clear directions, bio, etc.

Reviews 4/20, 4/28, 5/5, 5/12, 5/19 Too many menu items, and confusing navigation, no course tour, and welcome message scant, No breakdown of course activities, lots of creative tasks like webquest, and portfolios, but needs more instructions and details, no quiz assessments and needs to add, great course projects (eg. - create self portrait in the style of a master artist) but needs more instructions and details, suggest add more multimedia such as slides, videos and powerpoints, no home page – suggest add one, needs lecture notes, also grading scale needs work, along with rubrics for project, syllabus needs updated for online delivery, add communication policy, add weekly announcements, good resources, but need organizing

Final Review & Approval - 5/26/15 complete new menu – simple, few items, easy to navigate and understand, - added course tour and all in one place, easy to find and use. Added complete course tour and activities in one place, webquest, portfolios, all completely described, detailed and now organized, now quiz assessments added to the class, course projects now have complete instructions, added slides for discussions prior to creating work, added videos, slides, powerpoints, and newly designed visual home page, added lecture notes includes study guide and rubrics for projects. Syllabus now designed for online students, added communication policy, suggest develop weekly announcements for each topic and activity, resources now well organized and now in one place, suggest more extensive BIO, and add teaching philosophy and welcome video

	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Hobbies • A photograph
I.2 Course layout is easy to navigate and understand.	The following are easy to locate, navigate, and understand <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Course calendar with activity due dates • Syllabus • Course activities • Grading Systems • Testing procedures (online, proctored, etc.) • Procedure for submission of assignments • Discussion/Forum instructions • Rules of contact for participating in forums 	Layout of the class is easy to navigate and follow
I.3 Expectations regarding academic honesty, including plagiarism concerns, are clearly stated in the syllabus.	At a minimum, the course syllabus must contain a statement that explains the actions that will be taken if plagiarism or any type of academic dishonesty is detected.	Clear expectations
I.4 Students are requested to introduce themselves to the class.	The student introduction creates a supportive learning environment and sense of community. Look for: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • A request that students introduce themselves along with instructions on where and how they should do so • Instructors may ask students to answer specific 	Introductory forum included with instructions clear

Reviews 4/20, 4/28, 5/5, 5/12, 5/19 Too many menu items, and confusing navigation, no course tour, and welcome message scant, No breakdown of course activities, lots of creative tasks like webquest, and portfolios, but needs more instructions and details, no quiz assessments and needs to add, great course projects (eg. - create self portrait in the style of a master artist) but needs more instructions and details, suggest add more multimedia such as slides, videos and powerpoints, no home page – suggest add one, needs lecture notes, also grading scale needs work, along with rubrics for project, syllabus needs updated for online delivery, add communication policy, add weekly announcements, good resources, but need organizing

Final Review & Approval - 5/26/15 complete new menu – simple, few items, easy to navigate and understand, - added course tour and all in one place, easy to find and use. Added complete course tour and activities in one place, webquest, portfolios, all completely described, detailed and now organized, now quiz assessments added to the class, course projects now have complete instructions, added slides for discussions prior to creating work, added videos, slides, powerpoints, and newly designed visual home page, added lecture notes includes study guide and rubrics for projects. Syllabus now designed for online students, added communication policy, suggest develop weekly announcements for each topic and activity, resources now well organized and now in one place, suggest more extensive BIO, and add teaching philosophy and welcome video

	questions (such as why they are taking the course, what concerns they have, what they expect to learn,) or may choose to let the student decide. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Instructors should consider providing an example of an introduction and/or start the process by introducing themselves.
--	---	--

II. STUDENT LEARNING OUTCOMES

General Review Standard: Expected learning outcomes are clearly defined and explained. They assist the learner to focus on learning objectives.

Review Standards	Specifics	Comments
II.1 The posted outcomes of the course include the outcomes in the approved course outline. Any additional outcomes used are observable, measurable, and achievable.	All outcomes from the approved course outline must be present on the syllabus of the course being reviewed.	Complete syllabus - and see attached.

III. ASSESSMENT AND MEASUREMENT

Reviews 4/20, 4/28, 5/5. 5/12, 5/19 Too many menu items, and confusing navigation, no course tour, and welcome message scant, No breakdown of course activities, lots of creative tasks like webquest, and portfolios, but needs more instructions and details, no quiz assessments and needs to add, greater course projects (eg. - create self portrait in the style of a master artist) but needs more instructions and details, suggest add more multimedia such as slides, videos and powerpoints, no home page – suggest add one, needs lecture notes, also grading scale needs work, along with rubrics for project, syllabus needs updated for online delivery, add communication policy, add weekly announcements, good resources, but need organizing

Final Review & Approval - 5/26/15 complete new menu – simple, few items, easy to navigate and understand, - added course tour and all in one place, easy to find and use. Added complete course tour and activities in one place, webquest, portfolios, all completely described, detailed and now organized, now quiz assessments added to the class, course projects now have complete instructions, added slides for discussions prior to creating work, added videos, slides, powerpoints, and newly designed visual home page, added lecture notes includes study guide and rubrics for projects. Syllabus now designed for online students, added communication policy, suggest develop weekly announcements for each topic and activity, resources now well organized and now in one place, suggest more extensive BIO, and add teaching philosophy and welcome video

General Review Standard: Assessment strategies are established ways to measure effective learning, assess learner progress by reference to stated objectives, and are designed as essential to the learning process.

Review Standards	Specifics	Comments
III.1 Multiple methods of assessment measure the achievement of stated course outcomes and learning objectives.	Example that DOES meet the standard: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> Students are required to write papers, interact with others through electronic discussions, take quizzes, etc. 	Yes, includes discussions, assignments, quizzes, and case studies
	Example that does NOT: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> Students are required to take tests and no other method of assessment is utilized
III.2 The grading policy is easy to locate and understand.	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> The grading policy needs to be easy to locate and access. Language used to describe how course activities are graded and how the final grade is calculated, should be easy to understand. 	Grading policy is in the syllabus, along with rubric for discussion grading – additional grading rubrics on case studies
III.3 Assessment and measurement strategies provide appropriate feedback to the learner.	Students learn more effectively if they receive frequent, meaningful, and rapid feedback. This feedback may come from the instructor directly, from assignments and assessments that have feedback	Assessment includes case studies and

Reviews 4/20, 4/28, 5/5, 5/12, 5/19 Too many menu items, and confusing navigation, no course tour, and welcome message scant, No breakdown of course activities, lots of creative tasks like webquest, and portfolios, but needs more instructions and details, no quiz assessments and needs to add, great course projects (eg. - create self portrait in the style of a master artist) but needs more instructions and details, suggest add more multimedia such as slides, videos and powerpoints, no home page – suggest add one, needs lecture notes, also grading scale needs work, along with rubrics for project, syllabus needs updated for online delivery, add communication policy, add weekly announcements, good resources, but need organizing

Final Review & Approval - 5/26/15 complete new menu – simple, few items, easy to navigate and understand, - added course tour and all in one place, easy to find and use. Added complete course tour and activities in one place, webquest, portfolios, all completely described, detailed and now organized, now quiz assessments added to the class, course projects now have complete instructions, added slides for discussions prior to creating work, added videos, slides, powerpoints, and newly designed visual home page, added lecture notes includes study guide and rubrics for projects. Syllabus now designed for online students, added communication policy, suggest develop weekly announcements for each topic and activity, resources now well organized and now in one place, suggest more extensive BIO, and add teaching philosophy and welcome video

	built into them, or even from other students. Examples: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Instructor participation in a discussion assignment. • Writing assignments that require submission of a draft for instructor comment and suggestions for improvement. • Self-mastery tests and quizzes that include informative feedback with each answer choice. • Interactive games and simulation that have feedback built in. In most online courses, the types of assessments used are appropriate for the online environment. Assume that the course meets the standard unless you find evidence to the contrary.	discussions with grading and feedback, and student interaction
--	--	---

IV. RESOURCES AND MATERIALS

General Review Standard: Instructional materials are designed to be sufficiently comprehensive to achieve expected learning outcomes and are prepared by qualified persons competent in their fields. (Materials, other than standard textbooks are produced by recognized publishers, are prepared by the instructor or distance educators skilled in preparing materials for distance learning.)

Reviews 4/20, 4/28, 5/5. 5/12, 5/19 Too many menu items, and confusing navigation, no course tour, and welcome message scant, No breakdown of course activities, lots of creative tasks like webquest, and portfolios, but needs more instructions and details, no quiz assessments and needs to add, great course projects (eg. - create self portrait in the style of a master artist) but needs more instructions and details, suggest add more multimedia such as slides, videos and powerpoints, no home page – suggest add one, needs lecture notes, also grading scale needs work, along with rubrics for project, syllabus needs updated for online delivery, add communication policy, add weekly announcements, good resources, but need organizing

Final Review & Approval - 5/26/15 complete new menu – simple, few items, easy to navigate and understand, - added course tour and all in one place, easy to find and use. Added complete course tour and activities in one place, webquest, portfolios, all completely described, detailed and now organized, now quiz assessments added to the class, course projects now have complete instructions, added slides for discussions prior to creating work, added videos, slides, powerpoints, and newly designed visual home page, added lecture notes includes study guide and rubrics for projects. Syllabus now designed for online students, added communication policy, suggest develop weekly announcements for each topic and activity, resources now well organized and now in one place, suggest more extensive BIO, and add teaching philosophy and welcome video

Review Standards	Specifics	Comments
IV.1 Resources and materials are easily accessible to and usable by the learners.	If some of the course resources, including textbooks, videos, CD-ROMS, etc., are unavailable within the framework of the course website, investigate how students would gain access to them, and examine their ease of use. Examples: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • If textbooks and/or CD's are used, titles, authors, publishers, ISBN numbers, copyright dates, and information as to where copies can be obtained, are listed. • An area on the syllabus is devoted to required resources. • Required software plug- ins are listed, along with instructions for obtaining and installing the plug- ins. 	Comments syllabus includes additional reading materials, also class includes lecture notes and powerpoints,
IV.1 Resources and materials are easily accessible to and usable by the learners.	If some of the course resources, including textbooks, videos, CD-ROMS, etc., are unavailable within the framework of the course website, investigate how students would gain access to them, and examine their ease of use. Examples: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • If textbooks and/or CD's are used, titles, authors, publishers, ISBN numbers, copyright dates, and information as to where copies can be obtained, are 	Additional resources including 1st two chapters of the textbook provided to allow students time to purchase textbook.

Reviews 4/20, 4/28, 5/5. 5/12, 5/19 Too many menu items, and confusing navigation, no course tour, and welcome message scant, No breakdown of course activities, lots of creative tasks like webquest, and portfolios, but needs more instructions and details, no quiz assessments and needs to add, great course projects (eg. - create self portrait in the style of a master artist) but needs more instructions and details, suggest add more multimedia such as slides, videos and powerpoints, no home page – suggest add one, needs lecture notes, also grading scale needs work, along with rubrics for project, syllabus needs updated for online delivery, add communication policy, add weekly announcements, good resources, but need organizing

Final Review & Approval - 5/26/15 complete new menu – simple, few items, easy to navigate and understand, - added course tour and all in one place, easy to find and use. Added complete course tour and activities in one place, webquest, portfolios, all completely described, detailed and now organized, now quiz assessments added to the class, course projects now have complete instructions, added slides for discussions prior to creating work, added videos, slides, powerpoints, and newly designed visual home page, added lecture notes includes study guide and rubrics for projects. Syllabus now designed for online students, added communication policy, suggest develop weekly announcements for each topic and activity, resources now well organized and now in one place, suggest more extensive BIO, and add teaching philosophy and welcome video listed. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • An area on the syllabus is devoted to required resources. • Required software plug-ins are listed, along with instructions for obtaining and installing the plug-ins.

--	--	--

V. LEARNER INTERACTION

General Review Standard: The effective design of instructor-learner interaction and meaningful learner cooperation is essential to learner motivation, intellectual commitment, and personal development.

Review Standards	Specifics	Comments
------------------	-----------	----------

Reviews 4/20, 4/28, 5/5. 5/12, 5/19 Too many menu items, and confusing navigation, no course tour, and welcome message scant, No breakdown of course activities, lots of creative tasks like webquest, and portfolios, but needs more instructions and details, no quiz assessments and needs to add, create course projects (eg. - create self portrait in the style of a master artist) but needs more instructions and details, suggest add more multimedia such as slides, videos and powerpoints, no home page – suggest add one, needs lecture notes, also grading scale needs work, along with rubrics for project, syllabus needs updated for online delivery, add communication policy, add weekly announcements, good resources, but need organizing

Final Review & Approval - 5/26/15 complete new menu – simple, few items, easy to navigate and understand, - added course tour and all in one place, easy to find and use. Added complete course tour and activities in one place, webquest, portfolios, all completely described, detailed and now organized, now quiz assessments added to the class, course projects now have complete instructions, added slides for discussions prior to creating work, added videos, slides, powerpoints, and newly designed visual home page, added lecture notes includes study guide and rubrics for projects. Syllabus now designed for online students, added communication policy, suggest develop weekly announcements for each topic and activity, resources now well organized and now in one place, suggest more extensive BIO, and add teaching philosophy and welcome video

V.1 The course design provides learning activities to foster instructor-student, content- student, and if appropriate, student-student interaction.	The learning activities in the course should foster the following types of interaction: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Instructor-learner: Self- introduction; discussion postings and responses; feedback on assignments; evidence of one-to-one email communication, etc. • Learner-content: essays, term papers, group projects, etc. based on readings, videos, and other course content; self-assessment exercises; group work products, etc. • -learner (if appropriate): Self- introduction exercise; group discussion postings; group projects; peer critiques, etc. 	Discussions include a self introduction to class, also group discussions each week.
V.2 The student requirements for course interaction are clearly articulated	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • A clear statement of requirements is particularly important when a type of interaction (e.g. participation in a discussion) is not optional. What are the penalties for non- participation? Impact on grade, etc.? Example: Students required to participate in discussions	Expectations on timellines and deadlines clearly outlined and delineated in a weekly schedule in the syllabus.

Reviews 4/20, 4/28, 5/5. 5/12, 5/19 Too many menu items, and confusing navigation, no course tour, and welcome message scant, No breakdown of course activities, lots of creative tasks like webquest, and portfolios, but needs more instructions and details, no quiz assessments and needs to add, greate course projects (eg. - create self portrait in the style of a master artist) but needs more instructions and details, suggest add more multimedia such as slides, videos and powerpoints, no home page – suggest add one, needs lecture notes, also grading scale needs work, along with rubrics for project, syllabus needs updated for online delivery, add communication policy, add weekly announcements, good resources, but need organizing

Final Review & Approval - 5/26/15 complete new menu – simple, few items, easy to navigate and understand, - added course tour and all in one place, easy to find and use. Added complete course tour and activities in one place, webquest, portfolios, all completely described, detailed and now organized, now quiz assessments added to the class, course projects now have complete instructions, added slides for discussions prior to creating work, added videos, slides, powerpoints, and newly designed visual home page, added lecture notes includes study guide and rubrics for projects. Syllabus now designed for online students, added communication policy, suggest develop weekly announcements for each topic and activity, resources now well organized and now in one place, suggest more extensive BIO, and add teaching philosopy and welcome video

	are told how many times each week they must post original comments, how many times they must post responses to other's comments, what the quality of the comments must be, how the comments will be evaluated, and what grade credit they can expect for various levels of performance.
	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Students need clear information about how quickly the instructor will respond and how frequently he or she is available. • Informing students about instructor response and availability times prevents unreasonable expectations from developing.

Reviews 4/20, 4/28, 5/5. 5/12, 5/19 Too many menu items, and confusing navigation, no course tour, and welcome message scant, No breakdown of course activities, lots of creative tasks like webquest, and portfolios, but needs more instructions and details, no quiz assessments and needs to add, create course projects (eg. - create self portrait in the style of a master artist) but needs more instructions and details, suggest add more multimedia such as slides, videos and powerpoints, no home page – suggest add one, needs lecture notes, also grading scale needs work, along with rubrics for project, syllabus needs updated for online delivery, add communication policy, add weekly announcements, good resources, but need organizing

Final Review & Approval - 5/26/15 complete new menu – simple, few items, easy to navigate and understand, - added course tour and all in one place, easy to find and use. Added complete course tour and activities in one place, webquest, portfolios, all completely described, detailed and now organized, now quiz assessments added to the class, course projects now have complete instructions, added slides for discussions prior to creating work, added videos, slides, powerpoints, and newly designed visual home page, added lecture notes includes study guide and rubrics for projects. Syllabus now designed for online students, added communication policy, suggest develop weekly announcements for each topic and activity, resources now well organized and now in one place, suggest more extensive BIO, and add teaching philosophy and welcome video

V.4 The course design provides a variety of opportunities for interaction between instructor and learner.	Students need to feel that the instructor is close at hand, but the opportunities for interaction will vary with the discipline of the course. Look for examples such as: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • An actively used and well-organized instructor-facilitated discussion board. • Optional “electronic office hours” provided in the chat room. • An invitation for the class to email the instructor with individual concerns 	Instructor available by email/chat
--	--	---

VI. COURSE TECHNOLOGY

General Review Standard: To enhance student learning, course technology should enrich instruction and foster learner interactivity.

Review Standards	Specifics	Comments
VI.1 The selection and use of tools and media supports the course outcomes and is integrated with texts and lesson assignments.	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Look for evidence that tools and media used in the course support related course outcomes, and are integrated with texts and lesson assignments.

Reviews 4/20, 4/28, 5/5. 5/12, 5/19 Too many menu items, and confusing navigation, no course tour, and welcome message scant, No breakdown of course activities, lots of creative tasks like webquest, and portfolios, but needs more instructions and details, no quiz assessments and needs to add, great course projects (eg. - create self portrait in the style of a master artist) but needs more instructions and details, suggest add more multimedia such as slides, videos and powerpoints, no home page – suggest add one, needs lecture notes, also grading scale needs work, along with rubrics for project, syllabus needs updated for online delivery, add communication policy, add weekly announcements, good resources, but need organizing

Final Review & Approval - 5/26/15 complete new menu – simple, few items, easy to navigate and understand, - added course tour and all in one place, easy to find and use. Added complete course tour and activities in one place, webquest, portfolios, all completely described, detailed and now organized, now quiz assessments added to the class, course projects now have complete instructions, added slides for discussions prior to creating work, added videos, slides, powerpoints, and newly designed visual home page, added lecture notes includes study guide and rubrics for projects. Syllabus now designed for online students, added communication policy, suggest develop weekly announcements for each topic and activity, resources now well organized and now in one place, suggest more extensive BIO, and add teaching philosophy and welcome video

	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Students should know how the tools and media fit into the assignments and how they relate to the course outcomes. • Make sure that the technology is not used simply for the sake of using technology. For example: A course might require viewing video materials, but it may not be clear whether some of the video materials illustrate or support any course outcome.	Suggest add some youtube videos to the class on contract topics
VI.2 Instructions for accessing course-required resources at a distance library, websites,etc.) are clear and easy to follow.	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Online students need to know about and be able to obtain access to educational resources by remote access • Information on these resources should be readily visible in an online class; clear instructions on how to access them should be provided. 	Resources clear

VII. ADA AND COPYRIGHT COMPLIANCE

General Review Standard: Access to course resources is in accordance with the Americans with Disabilities Act and U.S. copyright laws are followed.

Reviews 4/20, 4/28, 5/5. 5/12, 5/19 Too many menu items, and confusing navigation, no course tour, and welcome message scant, No breakdown of course activities, lots of creative tasks like webquest, and portfolios, but needs more instructions and details, no quiz assessments and needs to add, greater course projects (eg. - create self portrait in the style of a master artist) but needs more instructions and details, suggest add more multimedia such as slides, videos and powerpoints, no home page – suggest add one, needs lecture notes, also grading scale needs work, along with rubrics for project, syllabus needs updated for online delivery, add communication policy, add weekly announcements, good resources, but need organizing

Final Review & Approval - 5/26/15 complete new menu – simple, few items, easy to navigate and understand, - added course tour and all in one place, easy to find and use. Added complete course tour and activities in one place, webquest, portfolios, all completely described, detailed and now organized, now quiz assessments added to the class, course projects now have complete instructions, added slides for discussions prior to creating work, added videos, slides, powerpoints, and newly designed visual home page, added lecture notes includes study guide and rubrics for projects. Syllabus now designed for online students, added communication policy, suggest develop weekly announcements for each topic and activity, resources now well organized and now in one place, suggest more extensive BIO, and add teaching philosophy and welcome video

Review Standards	Specifics	Comments
III.1 There is evidence of effort to recognize the importance of ADA requirements (such as equivalent alternatives to auditory and visual content, Web pagelinks that are self-describing and meaningful, and information conveyed on Web pages in color is also available without color.	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Look for a statement in the syllabus that tells learners how to gain access to disability services. • Alternative means of access to course information should be provided for students who are hearing or visually impaired. • Look for equivalent textual representations of images, audio, animations, and video in the course website. • Presenting information in text format is generally acceptable, because 	Etudes is ADA compliant.
	screen reader software (used by those who are visually impaired) can read text. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • All file names and web hyperlinks should have meaningful names. For instance, the link to take a quiz should say “Take Quiz 1”, not “click here”. • Icons used as links should also have HTML tags or an accompanying text link. • To accommodate students who are color blind, color text should

Reviews 4/20, 4/28, 5/5. 5/12, 5/19 Too many menu items, and confusing navigation, no course tour, and welcome message scant, No breakdown of course activities, lots of creative tasks like webquest, and portfolios, but needs more instructions and details, no quiz assessments and needs to add, great course projects (eg. - create self portrait in the style of a master artist) but needs more instructions and details, suggest add more multimedia such as slides, videos and powerpoints, no home page – suggest add one, needs lecture notes, also grading scale needs work, along with rubrics for project, syllabus needs updated for online delivery, add communication policy, add weekly announcements, good resources, but need organizing

Final Review & Approval - 5/26/15 complete new menu – simple, few items, easy to navigate and understand, - added course tour and all in one place, easy to find and use. Added complete course tour and activities in one place, webquest, portfolios, all completely described, detailed and now organized, now quiz assessments added to the class, course projects now have complete instructions, added slides for discussions prior to creating work, added videos, slides, powerpoints, and newly designed visual home page, added lecture notes includes study guide and rubrics for projects. Syllabus now designed for online students, added communication policy, suggest develop weekly announcements for each topic and activity, resources now well organized and now in one place, suggest more extensive BIO, and add teaching philosophy and welcome video also be identifiable by other methods (such as bold, italics, etc.)

VIII.2 No apparent violations of copyright law exist within the course content or related materials	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Self- explanatory 	None present

Modified from ¹ Adapted from the Quality Matters Project sponsored by The Fund for the Improvement of Postsecondary Education (FIPSE), U. S. Department of Education

Reviews 4/20, 4/28, 5/5. 5/12, 5/19 Too many menu items, and confusing navigation, no course tour, and welcome message scant, No breakdown of course activities, lots of creative tasks like webquest, and portfolios, but needs more instructions and details, no quiz assessments and needs to add, great course projects (eg. - create self portrait in the style of a master artist) but needs more instructions and details, suggest add more multimedia such as slides, videos and powerpoints, no home page – suggest add one, needs lecture notes, also grading scale needs work, along with rubrics for project, syllabus needs updated for online delivery, add communication policy, add weekly announcements, good resources, but need organizing

Final Review & Approval - 5/26/15 complete new menu – simple, few items, easy to navigate and understand, - added course tour and all in one place, easy to find and use. Added complete course tour and activities in one place, webquest, portfolios, all completely described, detailed and now organized, now quiz assessments added to the class, course projects now have complete instructions, added slides for discussions prior to creating work, added videos, slides, powerpoints, and newly designed visual home page, added lecture notes includes study guide and rubrics for projects. Syllabus now designed for online students, added communication policy, suggest develop weekly announcements for each topic and activity, resources now well organized and now in one place, suggest more extensive BIO, and add teaching philosophy and welcome video